CYBER WEEKLY · 3 OCT 2026

NVIDIA launches an open safety platform for AI agents

Anthropic lists more than 100 providers for monitoring Claude, CrowdStrike says it sells through OpenAI's marketplace, Cribl enters security monitoring, and we update our seven predictions.

AI AGENTS

NVIDIA launches an open safety platform for agents

- NVIDIA says OpenShell, its runtime, "traces all actions and enforces policy". Sentry is a watchdog in its reference design.
- NVIDIA's release names Microsoft, Palo Alto Networks, CrowdStrike and Cisco among its partners. It gives no prices.
- Status: Check Point says its integration is in beta. Palo Alto Networks calls its gateway design "forward-looking".
- Our view: a chip maker is putting agent controls into its runtime and hardware, and security vendors are attaching their products to it.

SOURCES NVIDIA, 28 Sep · SecurityWeek, 28 Sep · Check Point, 28 Sep · Palo Alto Networks, 28 Sep

---

AI AGENTS

Anthropic lists more than 100 providers for monitoring Claude

- Anthropic says integrations with its Claude Compliance API are available from over 100 security and compliance providers.
- On the list: data-security vendors including Microsoft Purview, Proofpoint, Varonis, Cyberhaven, Forcepoint, Nightfall AI, MIND and Cyera.
- Not on the list on 3 October: DTEX Systems, Securonix, Exabeam, Gurucul and Teramind. Exabeam says it reads Claude Enterprise data directly.
- Our view: monitoring Claude is becoming a basic requirement for data-loss-prevention tools.

SOURCES Anthropic, 29 Sep · Help Net Security, 30 Sep · MIND, 29 Sep · Nightfall AI, 29 Sep

AI AGENTS

CrowdStrike says it now sells through OpenAI's marketplace

- CrowdStrike says the Falcon platform is now available in the OpenAI Marketplace.
- OpenAI says enterprise customers can use their existing OpenAI commitments to buy partner products such as CrowdStrike's.
- Microsoft made tool controls generally available in Agent 365. Administrators can allow or block the Model Context Protocol (MCP) servers and connectors agents use.
- Our view: AI companies are becoming places where security vendors plug in and sell their products.

SOURCES CrowdStrike, 29 Sep · Microsoft Tech Community, 30 Sep

SECURITY OPERATIONS

Cribl enters the SIEM market

- Cribl launched Cribl Detect, a security information and event management (SIEM) product. It says Detect is available now on Cribl.Cloud.
- Cribl says Detect costs "up to 50% less". It gave no list prices and named no Detect customers.
- Our view: Cribl now competes directly with Splunk (Cisco), Microsoft Sentinel and Google.
- IDC published an assessment of standalone AI security-operations products. Conifers and AiStrike each say they are Leaders.

SOURCES Cribl, 29 Sep · Conifers, 28 Sep · AiStrike, 30 Sep

DATES THAT PASSED

Two September targets pass with no announcement we could find

- Okta Agent Gateway: planned for the third quarter. Okta's own page, updated 25 September, still says "GA soon" (generally available soon).
- Okta's president of products called it "the Gateway that we've already announced", SiliconANGLE reports.
- Proofpoint SOC Analyst Agent (SOC: security operations centre): on 3 September Proofpoint expected general availability by the end of the third quarter.
- We found no availability announcement for either by 3 October.

SOURCES Okta, read 3 Oct · SiliconANGLE, 29 Sep · Proofpoint, 3 Sep

FUNDING AND SHARE SALES

Armadin raises $255.5 million

- Armadin, founded by Kevin Mandia, raised a $255.5 million Series B at a valuation above $2.5 billion. It uses AI agents for offensive security testing.
- Reco raised $55 million, led by AT&T Ventures. It maps what AI agents can access.
- Rig Security raised a $12 million seed. CrowdStrike's venture fund took part.
- Cato Networks employees sold about $100 million of shares, Calcalist reports.

SOURCES SecurityWeek, 29 Sep and 1 Oct · Reuters, 1 Oct · Calcalist, 29 Sep

PREDICTION UPDATES · OUR VIEW

Our seven predictions, after three weeks of evidence

PLATFORMS WIN

Supported, unchanged. Microsoft keeps bundling; specialists still raise large rounds.

IDENTITY MEETS SECURITY OPERATIONS

Supported, unchanged. Okta, RSA and Rig Security tie agent identity to threat detection.

DATA POSTURE ABSORBS LOSS PREVENTION

Buying trend supported; replacement not established, unchanged.

BUNDLES SQUEEZE THE MID-MARKET

Supported within that scope, unchanged.

AI TOOL-CALL SECURITY AS ITS OWN CATEGORY

Weakened, from mixed. Larger products are building in these controls.

AI-NATIVE CHALLENGERS KEEP AN EDGE

Weakened, unchanged. New evidence cuts both ways.

INSIDER-RISK BRANDS ABSORBED

Unchanged. We found no acquisitions since 12 September; three vendors are investing.

MORE BUSINESS MOVES

Other moves to keep in view

DATA SECURITY

Sublime Security says it made email data loss prevention generally available.

DATA SECURITY

Thales announced a data-posture product that can encrypt the exposed data it finds.

INSIDER RISK

Everfox says it is expanding UK staff by roughly 40%. It also reported an FBI deployment.

IDENTITY

RSA announced RSA Agent ID, with a gateway for agents' tool calls. RSA plans general availability for two parts on 16 November.

SECURE EDGE

Cloudflare says its generally available launch-week features on Enterprise plans are also on pay-as-you-go plans.

ACQUISITIONS

Airbus completed its purchase of Quarkslab. SGS bought a majority stake in Prescient Security.

DEAL TALKS

Proofpoint and Varonis: reported talks remain unconfirmed after 31 days.

SOURCES

Sources

Company announcements, regulatory filings and reporting behind this week's stories.

COMPANY AND PRIMARY ANNOUNCEMENTS

NVIDIA · Check Point · Palo Alto Networks · Anthropic · MIND · Nightfall AI · CrowdStrike · Microsoft Tech Community · Cribl · Conifers · AiStrike · Okta · Proofpoint · RSA · Everfox · Sublime Security · Thales · Cloudflare · Airbus · SGS · SEC

BUSINESS AND TECHNOLOGY PRESS

SecurityWeek · Help Net Security · SiliconANGLE · Reuters · Calcalist

---

Full sources accompany the weekly summary.